Series: Grandmother's Scrapbook: Craft Clippings from Early 20th Century U.S. Newspapers

The format of this book and transcribed patterns are copyright James G. Collins & Associates. Remaining illustrations are in the public domain.

Dedicated to Coby Mimi.

Keep in mind there is usually more than one way to do anything. Let this book provide you with inspiration as the patterns can be worked up by coloring in the little squares of graph paper, carefully arranging wooden blocks, coins, tiny tiles, or even macaroni or dried beans. Of course, using different kinds of thread and embroidering, knitting, and crochet can have their own magic. Please share with your older siblings.

If you believe that this publication has some value to you, please consider donating what you think is a reasonable sum to some worthy purpose; even a tiny amount may make a difference somewhere.

Some donations may also be tax deductible.

Consider the following organizations:

Museums and library special archives – these are where newspapers and other resources are often preserved for future study. Your donation can last a very long time.

The Antique Pattern Library project is an excellent opportunity to support access to publications similar to this one. This service provides scans of craft pattern publications that are in the public domain or have permission to post. Many are edited for ease of viewing by modem craftworkers and their technologies, http://www.antiquepattemlibrary.org/index.htm

Donations to your local library or a community college or other learning scholarship fund are valuable local investments.

Consider also Archive.org as it helps makes many resources available to all of us. I would be surprised if any person or organization returns even a nominal donation. -H
